

Isn't commercial aggregate just a fancy name for sand and gravel?

When we say commercial aggregate we're not trying to be fancy, just accurate. There are people who produce just sand and gravel. But at Shiely we try to have everything you need. Products like Rip Rap and Keystone Chips and Macadam Stone and Mineral Filler and Crushed Granite and many more. So when we say commercial aggregate, we're not trying to dazzle you . . . just let you know that we have more to offer than just sand and gravel. We try to have a broader range of commercial aggregates than anybody else in the business.

At the beginning of each new year, the President of the Minnesota Society of Architects, together with the Board, must attempt to establish the goals for the coming year. In reviewing the programs of the past several years, it occurs that the thrust of 1973, "Toward Becoming a Stronger Voice," had substantial impact and success to the point that we should build on that success. For this reason, I believe it is appropriate to proclaim 1974 as the year that "Architecture Goes Public in Minnesota," with an ever increasing emphasis on our profession's impact in shaping public policy decisions as our goal. This is fairly obvious in the work of the Legislative Committee, the Public Communications Committee, and such activities as Architecture Week. In addition I visualize that every MSA Committee is in a position to make a contribution to this idea, even though their charge might not be so specifically oriented.

Paralleling this major thrust I see a second important area of concern. Archibald Rogers, the President of the AIA, has stated that the program and budget for the year at the national level will focus upon institutional renewal, with the Task Force on the Future of the Institute as the spearhead of this focus.

We all know that it is in the nature of institutions to resist change and thereby avoid the painful problems of self-renewal. I believe we should expand on the national program at our state level, and I am pleased to report that already I see in the efforts of some of the Committees and members of the Board a surge toward self-renewal and revitalization. These concerns range from increased student participation to improved chapter and state structure, to a higher level of professional performance through our Professional Development Program.

Our profession of architecture is entering a new period of uncertainty and we will be continuing in our attempts to cope with an unprecedented array of new challenges. We have the prospect of further inflation in an environment of political instability as it may effect the construction industry. We have tight money, a shortage of key construction materials, wage and price controls and erratic construction cost forecasting. When we add to all of this the pollution crisis and the energy crisis, we have the threat of even more economic dislocation.

Ian McHarg told us at the 1973 convention that there were two meanings for the word crisis in the Chinese language. One was danger — the other was opportunity. I suggest that we seize upon the latter and turn these crises into opportunities for the profession to demonstrate leadership in the public interest. I view this year with optimism and I ask your enthusiastic commitment to the 1974 programs of the MSA.

20-YEAR-OLD SWIMMERS...42-YEAR-OLD POOL!

This pool at the College of St. Catherine in St. Paul was built in 1929. The beautiful and functional design of Ceramic Tile is the reason this 42-year-old pool is still in use.

And it looks almost new — because color-fast Ceramic Tile won't fade — even through four decades and 110,000 gallons of recirculating water.

Ceramic Tile features easy maintenance — cleans with a damp mop or cloth. Resists stains and scratches. Used in many areas from lavatories and shower rooms to school corridors and classrooms.

Ceramic Tile — the choice of architects, engineers and builders for thousands of years.

1974 Committees

COMMISSION ON EDUCATION

Commissioner — James Stageberg

Professional Development Programs

In 1973 this was one of the strongest committee efforts. Professional Development is one of the foremost priorities of the MSA. This committee proposes, develops and executes the professional development program. In 1974 we will put an emphasis on developing programs for younger practitioners and expanded forms of practice as well as strategies for management.

HOSPITAL AND HEALTH COMMITTEE

The 1973 Hospital and Health Committee has begun an aggressive liaison and communication program with non-architectural health groups, including state agencies and state health organizations.

In 1974 the committee will be assisting in publishing a special issue of the Northwest Architect on the humanization of health care facilities. In addition it will have a very active role in developing programs relating to architecture that will be presented at the Upper Midwest Hospital Conference May 8-10. Furthermore, it will be involved with a much improved special architectural exhibition at the

INSURANCE AND SURETIES

This committee has two major functions. It focuses on professional liability insurance and health accident disability income insurance. In 1974, it is proposed that the major emphasis will be on professional liability insurance. We will seek to increase loss prevention and to communicate to the profession any developments directly relating to professional liability insurance. We also seek to be a strong advocate with the insurance carrier to represent the concerns of the architectural profession in Minnesota.

Don Perrenoud, Chairman

Committee to be appointed.

DOCUMENTS

This is a standing committee which has undertaken three major responsibilities. They include: (1) cooperate with the AIA Institute Documents Board (2) receive and review comments and suggested comments to AIA documents from MSA members and other individuals on local organizations and in turn make recommendations to the institute (3) review any MSA documents and make suggestions and improvements, prior to their being published.

LEGISLATIVE AND GOVERNMENT AFFAIRS

In 1973 this committee undertook the most aggressive legislative effort in the history of the architectural profession in Minnesota. The committee meets weekly during the legislative session and coordinates testimony on issues of importance to the architectural profession. Specifically, it will (1) formulate a legislative program (2) engage in legislative lobbying activities (3) plan the proposed Architects at the Legislature to again be held in 1974 (4) again publish the Minnesota Society of Architects legislative program (5) establish and operate a legislative minuteman program.

PUBLIC COMMUNICATION

The Public Communication committee has proposed that the major emphasis of MSA in 1974 should be on Public Communication. It is seeking architects with a strong interest in this area to give leadership to the program. Included among the activities it intends to accomplish is Architecture in Minnesota, a brief Kiplinger like newsletter for the media on architecture. Establishment and promotion of a major speakers bureau (62 architects are currently signed up), a Regional Press Seminar, and several other ambitious programs.

ARCHITECTURE WEEK

After a year's absence Architecture Week is back, and tentatively scheduled for May 12-18. It will again focus on architectural tours, media appearances by architects, displays, and speaking engagements. Bicycle and walking tours are tentatively planned for Sunday, Wednesday, and Saturday. Co-ordinators and guides are needed. Firms will be asked to provide models, drawings, and photos of works for display in buildings throughout the state. Speaking engagements will be handled through the speakers bureau. Participation from members who could not normally join a committee due to geographical limitations is highly desirable as this will be a statewide effort.

SPECIAL TASK FORCE ON ENERGY AND ITS IMPLICATIONS TO BUILDING DESIGN

This issue of energy conservation will have a dramatic impact upon future design, and we are looking for leadership to provide architectural input in shaping future energy policy as it affects the design profession and the construction industry. It will include a review of legislative proposals and input of professional expertise into the proposals. We will also establish a Energy Advisory Service to provide current information on design and energy conservation, both to the public and design professionals.

EXPANDED SERVICES AND RESPONSIBILITIES

The MSA Board of Directors has charged the Task Force with recommending new approaches in professional services. Many architects feel present trends represent an undesirable condition for design professionals. It has been evident for several years that with increasing frequency, non-public construction programs have proceeded without adequate services from a design professional under turnkey or package programs. In most instances project control and design services are by a contractor or developer, who in turn engages the design professionals and also controls them. In many projects both the visual environments and the architect's economic position have suffered. This Task Force is seeking members willing to research and examine alternative methods, whereby

the architectural profession can meet the needs of clients and, in specific, public clients seeking to concentrate responsibility in the design/construct process.

You'll never know how much good you can do
until you do it.

You can help people.
In fact, there's a crying
need for you. Your talents.
Your training. Your concerns. They make you valuable to your business.
They can make you priceless to your community.

If you can spare even a few hours a week, call the Voluntary Action Center in your town. Or write: "Volunteer,"
Washington, D.C. 20013.

It'll do you good to see how much good you can do.

mmi GOAL

To develop more contract opportunities for contractors in unit masonry construction thus creating greater work opportunities for bricklayers, blocklayers and stone masons.

mmi PURPOSES:

1. To promote the use of brick, stone and masonry in construction.
2. To disseminate information concerning safe and economical masonry construction.
3. To develop advertising and public relations programs and other promotional activities for the good of the public and the masonry industry.
4. To promote the health, comfort, safety and economic interests of the public by educational activities within the masonry industry relating to masonry construction practices.
5. To develop programs and activities directed at assisting technically or otherwise, architects, engineers, specification writers, contractors, government authorities and agencies.
6. To promote the formulation or improvement of state and municipal codes and uniform masonry specifications or high quality standards of masonry construction.
7. To promote research and experimentation concerned with improving existing construction methods and developing, testing and promoting new construction materials and/or modes of construction.

Insurance Benefits for Members, spouses, and employees of Members. Through the Minnesota Society of Architects

Life Insurance Plan underwritten by the Washington National Insurance Company:

All Members and full-time employees of Members can apply, through age 69.

Term Insurance Coverage at low rates may be continued for life.

Conversion to a permanent plan at any time after your term insurance is in force for 5 years without evidence of insurability.

Waiver of future premiums if you become totally and permanently disabled for 180 consecutive days prior to age 60.

Can apply for $10,000 Basic Life Insurance or for up to double the basic amount.

Full range of settlement options available.

New Members under age 35 eligible for Basic Life insurance without evidence of insurability within 60 days of membership date.

Long Term Disability Plan underwritten by Washington National Insurance Co.

Scheduled benefits available in $121 increments ranging from $242 to $1,210 per month.

A monthly income accrues commencing with the first day after accident disability and the eighth day after sickness disability (or first day in hospital, whichever is first).

Benefits payable as result of accident for life; as result of sickness for 5 years. House confinement not required.

Premiums are waived after 180 days of disability.

Partial disability benefit and non-disabling injury benefit provided in the plan. Pays $5,000 in event of accidental death or dismemberment.

Major Medical Insurance underwritten by Washington National Insurance Company:

Pays 80% of eligible expenses in excess of the deductible.

Maximum benefit per illness or injury of $25,000 prior to age 70, $12,500 age 70 or over.

Choice of deductibles: $100, $250, $500, $1,000.

Provides benefits for expenses incurred in or out of the hospital.

Benefit for any single claim extends for 3 years.

New members under 35 may enroll in $500 Deductible plan without evidence of insurability within 60 days from membership date.

Unmarried children can remain in plan to age 23 if enrolled as full-time students.

After 1 child is insured under plan, all newborn children covered without additional premium and without evidence of insurability.

Hospital Income Plan underwritten by Washington National Insurance Company.

Designed to supplement other hospital medical expense plans by paying Member cash for each day of hospital confinement of Member or covered dependent.

Helps fill the "Protection Gap" — The very best disability income and hospital — medical plans cannot fully compensate for the financial loss of an extended hospital stay.

Pays $750 of monthly hospital income for insured members and employees, $600 for covered spouses and $450 for each covered child.

Pays monthly benefits for 15 months of hospital confinement per illness or injury.

Monthly income benefits are tax-free. Coverage provided for pre-existing conditions for hospital confinement commencing at least 12 months after the effective date of the coverage.

Members, dependent spouses, and employees, under age 64, may enroll.

Cost efficiency is one of the most important reasons for letting separate contracts

It's been proved over and over again. Both in privately financed construction and in public construction where funds come from taxes. In fact, many states and cities require separate bids. The mechanical portions must be separated from the general construction bids. The result is that competitive bidding for mechanical work reduces costs, increases efficiency. That's reason enough to let all mechanical contracts separately.

Four 80 unit apartment buildings, each with basement parking, four floors of units and a recreation center in each building, have been constructed on this site. These buildings utilized 8" solid bearing wall panels, 12" hollow core floor plank and Fab-con patented stairways of precast concrete. Carpet has been applied directly to floor plank. A total of 730,608 square feet of Fab-con floor plank and wall panels went into these buildings.

There are many more projects coming. Fab-con has recently completed a totally precast twelve-story high rise for the elderly in Minneapolis. May we help you with your project? Call Dave Hanson, Jim McConkey or Mike Trebtsoske.

MSA Membership Information

The following may be of particular interest for prospective members as well as our present members. We welcome your interest, and urge you to read this information carefully. If you desire any further information please write or call:

*Mrs. Mindy Leventhal
Executive Secretary
Minnesota Society of Architects
Suite 100 Northwestern National Bank Building
Saint Paul, Minnesota 55101
612-227-0761*

The Minnesota Society of Architects, the professional organization for the Architects, is one of 164 representing all 50 states which are components of The American Institute of Architects. The Minnesota Society consists of approximately 600 members and has three Chapters, the Minneapolis Chapter, St. Paul Chapter and the Northeastern Minnesota Chapter. Southern Minnesota Architects are presently in the process of developing a Southern Minnesota organization but until this is finalized, they are members of either the St. Paul or Minneapolis Chapters. Through the Society's committee activities and programs, architects seek to enhance the competency of the profession, to advance the standards of architectural education and practice, and to make the profession of ever increasing service to society.

There is a strong working relationship within the Society as can be evidenced by the success of our members' participation in committee activities. At the present time, the Minnesota Society of Architects has approximately 30 working committees, most of which are involved with relevant issues of concern to architects and the society. Membership in the Minnesota Society of Architects at the Corporate, Professional Associate and Associate levels encourages your participation in these activities.

Corporate Membership

A Corporate member of the American Institute of Architects is the highest level of membership outside of the Fellowship. To be eligible for Corporate membership the following are required: must be a United States legal resident, must declare willingness to abide by AIA's Standards of Ethical Practice, must have an honorable standing in community and must be able to give names of five persons as references, three of whom shall be AIA members, must be licensed to practice architecture in one of the states.

Rights and privileges granted a Corporate member: may use the initials "AIA" or phrase, "Member of the American Institute of Architects," as a suffix to name, shall be sent the AIA Journal, Memo and other regular mailing, shall be included on the AIA's and chapter's rolls, may serve on national and/or chapter committees, may hold national or chapter office, may speak, make motions and vote on matters at chapter meetings involving the affairs of the AIA and chapter, may serve as a delegate to the AIA's annual meeting, receives discount on AIA documents.

Application blanks for Corporate membership can be obtained from the MSA office. When your application is completed an admission fee of $10.00 should accompany your application and be sent to the Secretary of the chapter for which you are making application.

As members of the AIA, Corporate members are subject to dues payment to the National AIA as well as the chapter and the MSA. Regular AIA dues for the first year are $32, $64 the second year and $96 the third year and subsequent years. During the second year of membership Corporate members are also subject to AIA Supplemental Dues, which are 4% of FICA tax paid the previous year multiplied by member's percentage of participation in his firm.

Chapter dues are $40 annually, with the exception of outstate members who pay between $15 and $20 annually, according to chapter for which membership is made. Outstate members will also pay $5 for meetings they attend when a meal is served.

Dues to the Minnesota Society of Architects are $125 annually. This includes subscription to the Northwest Architect, mailings, publications, etc.

Professional Associate Membership

Professional Associate is the second category of membership in the Minnesota Society of Architects. This membership is primarily designed for licensed architects who cannot undertake the costs of National Membership. These members belong to the Minnesota Society of Architects only and are not members of the American Institute of Architects. To qualify for Professional Associate membership one must be a United States legal resident, must declare willingness to abide by AIA's Standards of Professional Practice, must have an honorable standing in community and must be able to give the names of two AIA members as sponsors, must reside or work in the jurisdiction of the chapter in which application is made, and must be licensed to practice architecture in one of the states.

Rights and privileges granted a Professional Associate member are the following: may serve as a member of any chapter committee as well as participate fully in state and chapter affairs.

Applications for Professional Associate membership are also available from the MSA office and must be filed, with a $5 admission fee, with the Secretary of the chapter for which application is being made. Chapter dues vary according to the chapter in which membership is made, Minneapolis Chapter $30 annually, $40 annually for the St. Paul Chapter, the fee is $15 annually for outstate members of both chapters, plus payment at the door for each dinner.

Dues for the Minnesota Society of Architects are $35 annually for both chapters, this cost includes subscription to the Northwest Architect, all mailings, publications, etc.

Associate Membership

Associate membership is designed for members of the profession who are not licensed to practice architecture. Associate members, like Professional Associate members, are not members of the AIA. Eligibility and qualifications for Associate membership are: must be a United States legal resident, must declare willingness to abide by the Bylaws and rules of the chapter, must have an honorable standing in community and must be able to give the names of two chapter members as sponsors, must reside or work in the jurisdiction of the chapter in which application is made, must be a draftsman or technical employee in an architect's office or, if engaged in other aspects of the profession, must be a graduate of a recognized school of architecture, and cannot be a licensed architect.

Rights and privileges granted an Associate member are the same as those of the Professional Associate member.

Annual dues for the Minneapolis Chapter are $27.50, $35 for the St. Paul Chapter and $10 annually for out-state members of both chapters, plus payment at the door for each dinner. Minnesota Society of Architects dues are $20 annually, which also includes subscription to the Northwest Architect, all mailings, publications, etc.

Applications for Associate membership are obtainable from the Minnesota Society of Architects' office and should be filed with the Secretary of the chapter for which application is being made. A $5 admission fee is also required.

The above are the most common types of membership. Other classifications are as follows:

1. Student Associate
2. Fellowship
3. Membership Emeritus
4. AIA Associate Membership
5. Honorary Membership
6. Professional Affiliateship.

Please contact the MSA Office for further details about these memberships.

Dues Structure

	* Corporate	Professional Associate	Associate
Minneapolis Chapter	165.	65.	47.50
St. Paul Chapter	165.	75.	55.
Northeastern Minn. Chapter	135.	40.	23.

* does not include AIA dues

QUESTION MOST FREQUENTLY ASKED

In which Membership Category should I apply?

If you are a registered architect and are practicing for yourself, or as a partner in a firm, you should apply for Corporate membership in the Institute.

If you are a registered architect who is employed by an architectural firm, or are engaged in architectural research, education, journalism or administration, you should apply as a Professional Associate or a Corporate.

If you are not legally registered as an architect, but are a graduate of a recognized architectural school, or a draftsman or technical employee of a firm, you should apply for Associate Membership.

Must I Be a Professional Associate Before Becoming a Corporate Member?

No, You May Join Immediately as a Corporate if You Qualify for That Category.

What happens if I Am a Professional Associate and Open My Own Office?

If you open your own office or become a partner in a firm, you may remain a Professional Associate for a maximum of three years before applying for Corporate Membership.

How Much Will it Cost Me to Join the Minnesota Society of Architects?

The answer to this depends on the membership category; however, compared to the benefits received, it is always a nominal fee. For a complete schedule of dues refer to the dues structure printed previously.

May I Use the Initials "A.I.A.?"

Only if you are a Corporate Member of the Institute. As a Professional Associate you may use the term "Professional Associate of the Minnesota Society of Architects, AIA". As an Associate member, you may use the term, "Associate of the Minnesota Society of Architects, AIA." Neither one of these terms may be abbreviated in any way, nor may the first part appear in smaller letters than the rest of the term.

Does my Chapter Membership Include a Subscription to the "AIA" Journal?

All Corporate members automatically receive a subscription as part of their annual dues to The Institute. Professional Associate and Associate members may subscribe to the Journal by sending the $5 subscription fee direct to the magazine. All members do, however, receive regular copies of the Northwest Architect, published by the Minnesota Society of Architects.

Sauk Centre High just made plans for the 1997 class reunion

When the class of 1972 meets for their 25-year reunion in 1997, chances are they'll be running into an old friend — Romany-Spartan® Ceramic Tile.

The planners at Sauk Centre were not only thinking of this year's classes, but classes for years to come. That's why they chose Romany-Spartan tile, a product that's been going to school just about as long as any other surfacing material.

Romany-Spartan tile has earned its Ph.D. (Phenomenal Durability) from school after school over the years. That's one of the reasons why some of today's leading educators and architects continue to specify it. There are many more reasons, too. Like versatility in design, color selection and minimum maintenance costs.

So if you're looking for a material that'll make it back to reunion after reunion still looking as young as the day it entered school, specify Romany-Spartan ceramic tile.

SPANCRETE

for parking structures

The Landmark Parking Ramp in Appletree
Square, designed by Ellerbe Architects, is built entirely of Spancrete Prestressed Products, including beams, columns and double tees. Each piece of Spancrete Prestressed Concrete was reinforced with high tensile steel strand, built to specification, delivered to the jobsite on schedule, erected in a short time and required no concrete topping.
Spancrete Prestressed Concrete offers a variety of design alternatives, lower maintenance costs, and fire and weather resistance. For more information on Spancrete Pre-stressed Concrete, its uses and potential, call or write us. We'll be happy to give you the facts.

Properties in every neck of the woods?

(Give 'em a whirl!)

Charter a FTC Bell helicopter.

Two of you (three, counting the pilot) can hop over traffic and trees at 80-mph. Hover and take a good close look before you touch down.

You can also learn to fly a helicopter at FTC. Or any kind of aircraft, for that matter. And all our training is approved by the FAA and VA.

We invite you to call or stop by. Be glad to answer any questions you have.

STONEHENGE ARCHITECTURAL PANELS COMPLIMENTARY LINE TO COLORLITH

Johns-Manville has captured the rugged, ageless beauty of natural cleft stone in a lightweight, easy to install panel. Stonehenge architectural panels are man-made of asbestos and cement to provide uniform strength without extra thickness. They weigh less than natural stone and have superior screw holding ability to permit backfastening. Or you can use the concealed face-fastened mounting systems.

J-M Stonehenge architectural panels can be used for interior and exterior walls, partitions and even floors. They are available in sizes up to 4' x 8' with nominal 1/2" or 3/4" thicknesses.

Chicago's most versatile Motor Inns, they're so near... yet so far.

All that's Chicago.

That's what's so near. Just a stone's throw up the street is the Art Institute, and all the theaters, museums, and shopping on State Street are nearby, too. And our courtesy car will make any other downtown destination within minutes.

Without the congestion.

Or confusion. That's what's so far. And so are the other things that make people dislike big cities. You see, that's all 2 blocks away, and that's just far enough to let downtown be a real pleasure.

Wonderful accommodations — easy to reach.

We have ultra modern rooms, swimming pools, and restaurants and lounges serving hearty meals and hefty drinks and we're also easily accessible from all major highways.

At Aristocrat Inns, you'll be so near to all the attractions, but so far from all the noisy confusion that it's kind of like having your cake and eating it, too.

Notes

Taking Thought with Prestressed Concrete

Northrup Auditorium on the University of Minnesota Campus stands today as a monument to the arts, particularly fine music. For decades, it has been home of the Minnesota Orchestral Association where famous artists have performed the great musical works of our time.

The new Minnesota Orchestral Concert Hall, shown being erected of Prestressed Concrete, will carry on the traditions of fine music in the Midwest. Designed to provide the ultimate in atmosphere, comfort and enjoyment, the 2,670 seat hall will be surrounded by an open, airy three-level lobby where patrons can promenade and enjoy refreshments.

Pictured being hoisted into place is a 98 foot long giant single "T" roof beam. The component is a 98 feet, 4 inches long by 4 feet deep by 8 feet wide with special end diaphragm. There are 21 such beams, each weighing 40 tons covering a total of 16,630 square feet. These Prestressed Concrete beams provided many construction advantages: Fabricated off the job site and independent of high-priced, on-site construction cost factors; pieces shipped as needed to the job-site; erection was fast and trouble free.

The completed concert hall is in itself a work of art — fully functional, comfortable and enjoyable — a source of true pride to the Upper Midwest.

The 1968 Declaration of Independence for architects.

In 1968, the courts declared that business, lawyers, schools, hospitals and clinics, and institutions could own their own phones. No more bondage to Bell.

That means that you can save your clients a lot of money. Because owning a phone system costs a lot less than renting one from Bell. Monthly payments are less. There are tax advantages. And, of course, the end result is a tangible asset instead of a bale-full of worthless phone rental bill receipts.

Your client will like that. Your client will also appreciate that you can specify a phone system that's just right for his needs. Instead of settling for what Mother Bell says you can have, now you can choose.

TOTC people have installed thousands of business phones. We know phones. We know communications. And we're with The Other Telephone Company because here we have freedom to choose equipment that's right for the job... the best equipment made by ITT, Northern Telecom, Stromberg-Carlson, Voycall and many more famous names in communications. We start where Bell leaves off. And take care of every system we install... no red tape... no waiting for maintenance. You just ask any one of the hundreds of businesses who own a TOTC system. They'll tell you.

One more thing: When THE OTHER TELEPHONE COMPANY man calls on you he'll put everything in writing... the equipment cost... maintenance cost... depreciation cost... and just how much your client will save.

Make us prove it.

The Other Telephone Company

941-6622. We start where Bell leaves off.
